Acknowledgements

This volume is the result of a collective enterprise and, as such, owes its existence to the support of a number of individuals and institutions. I am grateful to the Vicerrectorado de Investigación and the Departamento de Filología Inglesa y Alemana at the University of Zaragoza, Spain, for their economic – and, in relation to the latter, also a much more ‘hands on’ – support in the organisation of the 1996 conference that, to a certain extent, led to the publication of this volume. I am also grateful to the Spanish Ministerio de Educación y Ciencia and the University of Surrey Roehampton, for their generous grants to help with the expenses incurred in the edition of this collection of essays. Thanks are also due to James Berry for permission to quote his ‘Poem for the Wife of an Imprisoned Leader’, to the Serpent’s Tail for permission to quote John Agard’s poem ‘Mr Oxford Don’, and to the following for the use of stills to illustrate the section on cinema: MGM (The Adventures of Priscilla, Queen of the Desert), Artificial Eye (Exotica), 40 Acres and a Mule Productions (Jungle Fever), The Sales Company (The Garden), Film Four (My Beautiful Laundrette), BBC (Sinbad the Sailor), Warner Bros (Falling Down).

My warmest thanks go to the contributors, both for their fine pieces of work and for their patience and co-operation, and to John Banks and Janet Allan for their assistance with the editing and setting up of the manuscript. Thanks also to colleagues at the University of Zaragoza, and to my friends and family, for their intellectual and emotional encouragement at different stages of the process. And, finally, I am, as always, grateful to Peter, my somewhat exotic and only partly domestic (though mercifully not domesticated) source of inspiration and support.
