Acknowledgments

I am extremely grateful to all of the contributors for their participation in this book. Special thanks go to Claude Bérard, who kindly agreed to the inclusion of his essay, and to the Université de Lausanne for permission to reprint this study in an English translation. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the individuals who have provided help and advice during various phases of this project: Annie Verbank-Piérard, Seth L. Schein, William H.V. Harris, Deborah Lyons, Adrienne Lezzi-Hafter, Clifford L. Orwin, and two of the contributors, Timothy J. McNiven and Helene P. Foley. I am especially grateful to my husband John F. Burleigh for both his encouragement and his help during the work on this book. Part of the editing was done while I was Parker Distinguished Lecturer at the Center for Old World Archaeology and Art at Brown University during the spring semester of 1998. My thanks go R. Ross Holloway for his gracious help at the Center and for his interest in this project. I would also like to acknowledge the cooperation of Sharon Chickanzeff, who provided special access to the library of the Institute of Fine Arts, and the staff of the Thomas J. Watson Library at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, where much of the final work on this book was done. Finally, I would like to thank Job Lisman, Acquisitions Editor at Brill Academic Publishers, for his belief in this book.
