

Accelerating the Future of Higher Education

Higher Education: Linking Research, Policy and Practice

Series Editors

Bruno Broucker (KU Leuven, Belgium)
Ton Kallenberg (Leiden University, the Netherlands)
Rosalind Pritchard (Ulster University, UK)

VOLUME 4

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/ear

Accelerating the Future of Higher Education

Edited by

Bruno Broucker, Clare Milsom, James Calleja
and Mark O'Hara

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Cover illustration: iStock.com/NanoStockk

All chapters in this book have undergone peer review.

The Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available online at <https://catalog.loc.gov>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: "Brill". See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 2666-7789

ISBN 978-90-04-68036-4 (paperback)

ISBN 978-90-04-54338-6 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-68037-1 (e-book)

Copyright 2023 by Bruno Broucker, Clare Milsom, James Calleja and Mark O'Hara. Published by Koninklijke Brill NV, Leiden, The Netherlands.

Koninklijke Brill NV incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Hotei, Brill Schöningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau, V&R unipress and Wageningen Academic.

Koninklijke Brill NV reserves the right to protect this publication against unauthorized use. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill NV via brill.com or copyright.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

Contents

List of Figures and Tables VII

Notes on Contributors IX

Introduction: Accelerating the Future of Higher Education 1

Bruno Broucker, Clare Milsom, James Calleja and Mark O'Hara

- 1 The Influence of Cognitive Abilities When Evaluating Information within an Information Problem Online 6
Alice Laufer and Christian Schemer
- 2 Higher Education Governance in Austria: Academics' Perception of Institutional Governance and Management Practices 30
Florian Reisky, Corinna Geppert and Attila Pausits
- 3 Engaging Students in Their Learning Journey: The Role of Social Integration in Higher Education 46
Pascale Stephanie Petri
- 4 A Mapping of Key Activity Areas for Development of Higher Education: Examples from Norwegian Centres for Excellence in Education 65
Torstein Nielsen Hole, Marit Ubbe and Ida Iselin Eriksson
- 5 To Innovate or Not to Innovate? Professors' Motives and Withholding Reasons for Cooperative Innovations 78
Cindy Konen
- 6 Collaborative Policymaking: Bringing Together Evidence and Expertise in Policymaking towards Recommendations 100
Carmen Heidenwolf, Katharina Riesinger, Magdalena Fellner and Attila Pausits
- 7 Managerial Adjustments to Improve Strategic Alignment: The Case of a Chilean University 114
Mario Alarcón and Pablo Hormazábal Saavedra

- 8 What Competences We Need for HE Managers: Results from the German Mixed Methods Project KaWuM 132
Julia Rathke, René Krempkow and Kerstin Janson
- 9 Globalization of Higher Education: Short-Term Study Abroad Programs 155
Andrew S. Herridge, Lisa J. James and Hugo A. García
- 10 Lessons from the Student Learning Experience in the Pandemic Era: A South African University Perspective 167
Darlington Mutakwa and Denyse Webbstock
- 11 University Governance Reform in an Illiberal Democracy: Public Interest Trusts in Hungary 186
Gergely Kováts

Figures and Tables

Figures

- 1.1 Model. 10
- 1.2 Task prompt. 12
- 2.1 Emergence of the university colleges for teacher education. 32
- 3.1 3D plots of the factor loadings of all items from all three questionnaires on the first three factors extracted according to the results of the PCA (UCB = blue, student engagement = red, social integration = orange). 54
- 3.2 Bivariate correlation coefficients between all variables included in the main analyses. 55
- 5.1 Expectancy theory. 83
- 6.1 Diagram of the multiple streams approach (from Jones et al., 2016, p. 15). 102
- 8.1 The KaWuM Competency Model for HE Managers in Germany (adapted from Stifterverband, 2018). 136
- 8.2 Code cloud of the coded competences in the 31 NWM interviews. 140
- 8.3 Skills required in German HE management: non-digital key competences. 141
- 8.4 Code cloud of coded specific communication requirements in HE management in the 31 NWM interviews. 143
- 8.5 HE-specific communication Items in KaWuM Survey 2. 144
- 8.6 Digital competences in HE management. 145
- 8.7 Required skills in German HE management: (HE) administrative competences. 146
- 8.8 Skills required in German HE management: area-specific. 148
- 8.9 Comparison of competence relevance for HE managers with and without leadership function – Order according to mean difference. 149
- 8.10 Elective modules in the Master's programmes of the universities of Speyer, Osnabrück and Oldenburg. 150
- 10.1 5-year trend of student satisfaction and survey response rates at UJ. 175
- 10.2 Student experience with lecturers in 2020 and 2021. 176
- 10.3 Sources of data for academic purposes. 179
- 10.4 Preferred teaching and learning mode in the future post COVID-19 pandemic. 180
- 11.1 A typology of HE systems based on institutional governing bodies. 191
- 11.2 The evolution of Hungarian higher education governing bodies. 195

Tables

1.1	Descriptive statistics of individual characteristics and independent variables.	13
1.2	Need for cognition scale referring to Beißert et al. (2014).	13
1.3	Need for cognitive closure scale referring to Schlink and Walther (2007).	14
1.4	Information overload scale referring to Karr-Wisniewski and Lu (2010).	15
1.5	Media characteristics operationalization.	16
1.6	Linear regression of NFC and IO model and correctness of source assessment.	18
1.7	Linear regression of NFCC model and correctness of source assessment.	18
1.8	Linear regression of NFC/IO model and cue category.	19
1.9	Linear regression of NFCC model and cue category.	19
1.10	Linear regression of NFC/IO model and credibility index.	20
2.1	Descriptives on the perceived influence.	36
2.2	Assessment of institutional management – Communication.	37
2.3	Assessment of institutional management – Profile of the institution.	38
2.4	Internal control and personnel decisions.	39
2.5	Results of a binary logistic regression analysis.	40
3.1	Demography of the samples in study 1 and study 2.	51
3.2	Mean, standard deviation and internal consistence for study 1 and study 2 for all relevant variables.	56
3.3	Loadings from the PCA for study 1 and study 2.	57
4.1	Overview of activity areas.	71
5.1	Professors by HEI type and subject.	84
5.2	Number of professors with a high, medium or low willingness to enter into cooperative innovations.	86
5.3	Motives for entering into cooperative innovations (number of mentions).	88
5.4	Case studies contribution to the research questions.	94
7.1	Main comparative results.	123
7.2	Faculty units results (3 years with contracts).	124
8.1	Administrative law modules and the learning objectives taught therein in the Master's programmes of the universities of Speyer, Osnabrück and Oldenburg.	147
9.1	Participant demographics.	158
11.1	The characterization of three ideal types of governance.	188
11.2	The development of the governance of Hungarian higher education.	194

Notes on Contributors

Mario Alarcón

(PhD in Higher Education) is a researcher at the Centre for Comparative Education Policies, Faculty of Education, Diego Portales University, Chile. He has held senior academic and administrative positions in Chilean universities. His research interests focus on higher education system governance, university governance and academic profession.

Bruno Broucker

(PhD) is guest professor at the KU Leuven and higher education policy advisor at the Institute of Tropical Medicine. He is the chair of EAIR and Editor-in-Chief of the book series Higher Education: Linking Research, Policy and Practice.

James Calleja

(DEd, PhD in International Relations) is the Principal/CEO, of the Malta College of Arts, Science and Technology and President of the European Forum for Technical and Vocational Education. Professor Calleja is a former Director of the EU Agency CEDEFOP and Permanent Secretary in the Ministry of Education and Employment in his native country Malta. Prior to these appointments, he was CEO of the Malta Qualifications Council. He represented Malta on the EQF Advisory Council, the Bologna Process and the Copenhagen Process. His research interests are in vocational education, international relations, qualifications frameworks and quality assurance.

Ida Iselin Eriksson

is an adviser at the Norwegian Directorate for Higher Education and Skills. She works on the administration of the Norwegian Centres for Excellence.

Magdalena Fellner

is research assistant and course manager at the Department for Higher Education Research at the University for Continuing Education Krems and coordinator of the Austrian Higher Education Research Network. Her main research interests concern the community engagement of students, the recognition of prior learning at higher education institutions and the social permeability at universities.

Hugo A. García

(PhD) is Associate Professor at Texas Tech University. He obtained his BA in international relations from UC-San Diego, MEd in higher education administration and student affairs from the University of Southern California, and PhD in Education with an emphasis in higher education from Claremont Graduate University. His research interests pertain to access and equity in higher education, retention of underrepresented students at two- and four-year postsecondary institutions, international higher education, diversity in higher education, and P-20 education pipeline.

Corinna Geppert

is an education scientist and psychologist working at the Department for Higher Education Research at the University for Continuing Education Krems as a postdoctoral researcher. Her current work focuses on the academic profession, conditions of successful educational trajectories, educational (in)equalities and research on policy implications. Her methodological expertise lies mainly in mixed methods and longitudinal research.

Carmen Heidenwolf

is a policy officer at the Federal Ministry of Science, Research and Education in Austria. In her work, she focuses on digital transformation and strategic developments of the entire higher education sector and has a background in political science and educational sciences.

Andrew S. Herridge

(PhD) is Assistant Professor at the University of Southern Mississippi. He obtained his BA in psychology and English from Florida State University, his MEd in College Student Affairs Administration from the University of West Florida, and his PhD in Higher Education Research from Texas Tech University. His research interests include access and equity in higher education, LGBTQIA students and resources, institutional leadership and policy, and international and comparative higher education.

Torstein Nielsen Hole

(PhD) is a senior adviser at the Norwegian Directorate for Higher Education and Skills. He works on the administration of the Norwegian Centres for Excellence.

Pablo Hormazábal Saavedra

(PhD in Human and Social Sciences). His research interests focus on the area of institutional management in higher education, specifically in finance, costs and strategic management.

Lisa J. James

(PhD) served as Associate Director for the Texas Tech University Ethics Center. Dr. James holds a PhD in Educational Psychology & Leadership, Higher Education. Dr. James' research focuses on access and equity in postsecondary education for underrepresented student populations, international higher education, institutional leadership and policy, and students' understanding of academic integrity and other ethical issues and topics.

Kerstin Janson

(PhD) was project manager in project "KaWuM - Career Paths and Qualification Requirements in HE Management" and is a senior researcher and head of the research office at the IU University of Applied Sciences. She earned her PhD at the INCHER- International Centre for Higher Education Research, Kassel.

Cindy Konen

is a lecturer for business administration and a scientific assistant for innovation management as well as innovative teaching concepts at the University of Applied Sciences in Dortmund (Germany). She has a doctoral degree in business administration and is currently researching with a focus on the innovative ability of organisations.

Gergely Kováts

(PhD) is Associate Professor at the Institute of Strategy and Management and the executive director of the Center for International Higher Education Research at the Corvinus University of Budapest. He served in the university administration from 2006 to 2019 in quality development. He is still active in developing accreditation mechanisms and participating in site visits at the Hungarian Accreditation Committee and international accreditation agencies. As a researcher, his main fields of interest are higher education management and governance, higher education policy and funding, but he also teaches organizational theory and public management.

René Krempkow

(Dr) was project manager in project "KaWuM – Career Paths and Qualification Requirements in HE Management. He is Senior Scientist and Senior Manager at Hochschule für Technik und Wirtschaft Berlin and at IU – International University of Applied Sciences. René does management, research and consulting in the field of Higher Education and is teaching HE Management at University of Oldenburg.

Alice Laufer

is a PhD Candidate of the German Graduate School 'Digital Information Landscape and its Impact on Students' Online Learning (DIAPASON)' of the University of Mainz. Her research focuses on cognitive processes of individuals in Higher Education when solving web-related information problem solving.

Clare Milsom

is the Registrar and Chief Operating Officer at Liverpool John Moores University. She is National Teaching Fellow of the UK's Higher Education Academy. A palaeontologist by background Clare has worked in higher education for over 30 years. Known for her work on the evaluation of large scale qualitative data. Clare has spent the last decade working in professional services with responsibilities for the Academic Registry, International Relations, Recruitment and Admissions, IT and Library Services and Student Support.

Darlington Mutakwa

is a Senior Manager in the Institutional Planning, Evaluation and Monitoring Division at the University of Johannesburg, South Africa. His responsibilities include enrolment planning and institutional research. He holds a BSc in Applied Mathematics and MPhil in Demography. His research interests are student experience and success in higher education.

Mark O'Hara

(PhD) is Associate Dean (Student Learning Experience & Quality Enhancement) at Birmingham City University, and Associate Pro Vice Chancellor (Education) at Aston University.

Attila Pausits

is Head of the Department for Higher Education Research and Professor for Higher Education Research and Development at the University for Continuing Education Krems, Austria. He works with national and supranational agencies, organisations, ministries responsible for higher education as well as with universities in many different countries in Europe and beyond.

Pascale Stephanie Petri

is Post-Doc at the Justus-Liebig University Giessen (Germany). She holds a BSc and MSc degree in Psychology and earned her PhD for her research on freshmen's experiences. Her recent research is situated in the area of psychological assessment and higher education research.

Julia Rathke

(PhD) was project manager in project “KaWuM – Career Paths and Qualification Requirements in HE Management” and works as senior researcher at PH Ludwigsburg. She is teaching “Social Competences” at DUV Speyer and is coach for personal development.

Florian Reisky

is a researcher at the Department for Higher Education Research at University for Continuing Education Krems, Austria, and the course director of the international Master in Research and Innovation in Higher Education (MARIHE). His current work focuses on the academic profession, career building in science and higher education, the third mission of universities and internationalization of higher education.

Katharina Riesinger

is a policy officer at the Federal Ministry of Science, Research and Education in Austria. She works among other topics on digital transformation and is involved in higher education planning.

Christian Schemer

is Professor of Communication at the Department of Communication, University of Mainz. His research focuses on political communication, advertising effects and consumer behavior. As Principal Investigator in the project DIAPASON Christian Schemer examines media-related effects when critically dealing with online information.

Marit Ubbe

is a senior adviser at the Norwegian Directorate for Higher Education and Skills. She works on the administration of the Norwegian Centres for Excellence.

Denyse Webbstock

is the Senior Director: Institutional Planning, Evaluation and Monitoring at the University of Johannesburg, South Africa. Her division is responsible for the monitoring and evaluation of the university’s performance, for strategic and enrolment planning, and for data governance and high-level data analysis for executive-level decision-making. She holds a PhD in policy studies from the University of KwaZulu-Natal and a Postgraduate Diploma in International Relations from the University of Amsterdam. Her research interests include leadership in higher education, institutional autonomy and the South African higher education system in general.

