

The 'Problem' of Girls' Education in Postcolonial Pakistan

Global Education in the 21st Century Series

Series Editor

Tasos Barkatsas (RMIT University, Australia)

Editorial Board

Amanda Berry (RMIT University, Australia)

Anthony Clarke (University of British Columbia, Canada)

Yüksel Dede (Gazi University, Turkey)

Angela Fitzgerald (Higher Colleges of Education, UAE)

Vasilis Gialamas (National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece)

Wendy Goff (Swinburne University, Australia)

Kathy Jordan (RMIT University, Australia)

Peter Kelly (Deakin University, Australia)

Huk Yuen Law (The Chinese University of Hong Kong)

Patricia McLaughlin (RMIT University, Australia)

Juanjo Mena (University of Salamanca, Spain)

Wee Tiong Seah (The University of Melbourne, Australia)

Dianne Siemon (RMIT University, Australia)

Ngai Ying Wong (The Education University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong)

Qiaoping Zhang (The Education University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong)

VOLUME 9

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/gecs

The 'Problem' of Girls' Education in Postcolonial Pakistan

A Study of Postcolonial Islamic Governmentalities in Rural Balochistan

By

Javed Anwar

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Cover illustration: iStock.com/Peshkova

All chapters in this book have undergone peer review.

The Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available online at <https://catalog.loc.gov>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: "Brill". See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 2542-9728

ISBN 978-90-04-71190-7 (paperback)

ISBN 978-90-04-71191-4 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-71192-1 (e-book)

DOI 10.1163/9789004711921

Copyright 2025 by Javed Anwar. Published by Koninklijke Brill BV, Leiden, The Netherlands. Koninklijke Brill BV incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Schönningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Brill Wageningen Academic, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau and V&R unipress.

Koninklijke Brill BV reserves the right to protect this publication against unauthorized use. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill BV via brill.com or copyright.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

For my parents, Amber, Meerain and Rahmain

Contents

Acknowledgements ix

Introduction: The Problem of Girls' Education in Pakistan and Balochistan 1

- 1 Postcolonial Pakistan—Education and Development 1
- 2 Discourse, Power/Knowledge and Truth 5
- 3 Education Policy Texts and Interviews—Using Critical Approaches 8
- 4 Structure of the Book 11

1 Gender, Education and Development in Postcolonial Pakistan 17

- 1 Introduction 17
- 2 Postcolonial Pakistan and Balochistan 18
- 3 Gender and Education in Pakistan and Balochistan 28
- 4 Education and Development in Pakistan and Balochistan 36
- 5 Conclusion 46

2 Postcolonial Islamic Governmentality and the 'Problem' with/of Girls' Education in Pakistan 49

- 1 Introduction 49
- 2 Coloniality, Postcolonialism and Postcolonial Theory 50
- 3 Postcolonial Feminism 59
- 4 Government and Governmentality 65
- 5 Constructing Postcolonial Islamic Governmentality 74
- 6 Conclusion 78

3 The Problem with Girls' Education in Rural Balochistan: Exploring the Context of Construction, Representation and Visibility 80

- 1 Introduction 80
- 2 Policy Work and the Problem of Girls' Education 81
- 3 District/Local Level Institutions, Actors and Practices and the Problem of Girls' Education 98
- 4 Conclusion 110

4	The Politics of Reforming Girls' Education in Rural Balochistan: Examining the Intersections of Global, National and Local Discourses 112
1	Introduction 112
2	Texts and Discourses in the Context of Policy Production 113
3	Actors and Institutions in the Context of Policy Production 125
4	Conclusion 141
5	Girls' Education and the Practice of Policy Implementation at the Local Level 143
1	Introduction 143
2	The Practice of Governing Girls' Education 144
3	The Practice of Expanding Access, Enrolment and Retention of Girls in Rural Areas 156
4	Conclusion 168
	Conclusion: Education Policy and the Lessons for Women's Representation and Gender Equity in Postcolonial Nation-States 171
1	Gender Disparity and Achieving the Targets of Education for All (EFA) 172
2	The Processes of Policy Production in Postcolonial Context 174
3	Involving Stakeholders in Education Decision-Making 176
4	Implementation Mechanism of Education Policy Practice 177
5	Monitoring Mechanism of Policy Practice Concerning Girls' Enrolment and Retention 178
6	Contribution of the Book 180
7	Prospects for Future Research 181
8	Concluding Thoughts 182
	References 185
	Index 214

Acknowledgements

During the challenging and stimulating four years of my PhD, the support and motivation of the following people have been highly encouraging and enabled me to complete this book:

Foremost, I would like to express my respect and gratitude to my mentors and supervisors, Dr Emily Gray, Professor Peter Kelly and Dr Elise Hunkin, for their untiring support, motivation, guidance and patience. Their supervisory meetings, discussions and feedback enhanced my knowledge, skills and intellectual capabilities. I will always be indebted to their professionalism, generosity and kindness.

My heartiest and special thanks to RMIT University for providing me with the opportunity and funding to do my PhD. This leads me to thank the Australian government and the generous Australians, who made it possible to undertake and accomplish this study through the hardest time of the COVID pandemic.

My very special gratitude and sincere thanks to the research participants for their time and candid discussions during the field interviews.

My love, gratitude and thanks to my parents, whose dreams and incessant sacrifices have always been an inspiration throughout my life and career. Their incredible encouragement to take on this challenge has been a continuous source of energy and motivation for me.

I can never forget the darkest moment during the last lap of my PhD research when my father-in-law passed away. He was the kindest and loveliest person; his support and memories will always be in my heart.

All my love and thanks to my wife, Amber, who never left me stranded during the most difficult and stressful moments. Thanks to my loving sons, Meerain and Rahmain, for their compromises, thankfulness and understanding of my situation. Many thanks to my dearest brothers, sisters, cousins and other family members for their moral and emotional support during critical moments.

Lastly, I would like to thank the Government of Balochistan for the grant of study leave, allowing me to undertake this study.

