Editor's Note

My thanks to our authors, peer reviewers and our graduate editorial team for their contributions to Volume 14 of the Journal.

We have a wonderful collection of articles for this first issue of 2022. Among the unique topics explored in this issue are how the African Court has interpreted socio-economic rights under the African Charter, the social function of clinical legal education in African countries, and the role of constitutions in promoting or hindering development. We hope you find all the articles informative.
