Editorial

A non-editorial

We are receiving increasing numbers of high quality papers. We are currently fully committed until the first issue of next year and, in the wake of a number of extensive editorials, have decided not to use scarce pages on an editorial that could be used instead for our authors' work. We would once again like to thank our authors, our reviewers and our publishers, especially Ruth Eldon and Berta Oosterloo, for their unfailing support and patience in this most challenging of years.
