BRILL

ERASMUS STUDIES 40 (2020) 1

ERASMUS STUDIES

brill.com/eras

Editor's Preface

Welcome to a new issue of Erasmus Studies. This issue features two of our three annual lectures, the Roland Bainton Lecture from 2018 and the Margaret Mann Phillips Lecture of 2019, as well as two articles and four book reviews. I draw your special attention to the appendix which Jan Bloemendal has added to his MMP lecture, wherein he has updated the bibliography on the Paraphrases on the New Testament that he compiled for Erasmus Studies 36 (2016) 187–194. We welcome these bibliographical supplements to the special issues of our journal that have appeared since 2014. We have high expectations for this year's meeting of the Renaissance Society of America (RSA) where the Erasmus of Rotterdam Society is hosting two panels on Erasmus as well as the Margaret Mann Phillips Lecture. William Barker will deliver the MMP Lecture on "The Gifts of Erasmus" on Friday April 3 at 4 PM in Franklin Hall 1 of the Marriott Downtown hotel in Philadelphia. Our two panels will take place earlier the same day, and one will be a special session in memory of Clarence Miller. I am looking forward to seeing all of you in Philadelphia.

Eric MacPhail

Professor of French, Indiana University