OBITUARY AND MEMORY

OBITUARY AND MEMORY OF PROFESSOR KENNETH K. INADA

Professor Kenneth K. Inada passed away on March 26, 2011, at age of 87. He was a distinguished scholar who specialized in Buddhism, Sino-Western comparative philosophy and aesthetics. He had contributed many illuminating articles to the Journal of Chinese Philosophy which I founded in 1972. For decades, he was also an enthusiastic supporter and member of the International Society of Chinese Philosophy, which I founded in 1973. Ken was my colleague and friend at the University of Hawaii at Manoa since 1964 and remained a friend throughout his long career at State University of New York at Buffalo and until his death. Personally I wish to express my great condolences. On behalf of both the Journal and the Society, we shall profoundly miss him as a close friend, an author, and a supporter.
