Dedication

We, his fellow-editors, would like to dedicate this volume to our co-editor (in fact the Lead Editor for the volume), Gaberell Drachman of the University of Salzburg. Throughout his career Gaberell has played a key role in furthering the cause of Greek linguistics with the many articles he has published, presentations he has given, and Ph.D.s he has supervised, and the scores of students he has trained in Salzburg (Socrates Exchange Students from Athens) as well as in Athens (as Guest Professor, over the years). All this, not to mention his dedicated work as co-founder and co-editor of this journal.

Gaberell celebrated a milestone birthday this past June 27th, joining the ranks of octogenarians. We wish him a most hearty χρόνια πολλά, and mark the occasion in the journal with the publication of his latest paper, “A Note on ‘shared’ Allomorphs”.
