Publisher's Note

Brill is proud to be the new publisher of the New West Indian Guide / Nieuwe West-Indische Gids (NWIG). This eminent journal with its long and distinguished history is a welcome addition to our growing journal program. Though traditionally known as a book publisher, Brill currently publishes 185 scholarly journals, mostly in the Humanities, but also in International Law and Biology. We are delighted to cooperate with KITLV/Royal Netherlands Institute of Southeast Asian and Caribbean Studies.

The NWIG is a full Open Access journal, which means that all articles are freely available online, ensuring maximum, worldwide dissemination of content.

We are pleased to announce that the NWIG now has online submission only, using Editorial Manager (EM), an online submission and peer review tracking system which is currently used worldwide by over 3000 journals. Editorial Manager allows authors to track the progress of their submission online.

Via the EM website for the Journal at www.editorialmanager.com/NWIG authors are guided step-by-step through the submission process. The system automatically converts all source files of the article to a single pdf that is then used in the peer-review process. All correspondence between editors, authors and reviewers proceeds via e-mail.

We are confident that this will greatly facilitate the process of submission, peer review and final publication and kindly invite you to register online at www.editorialmanager.com/NWIG.
