

BRILL
NIJHOFF

INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS LAW REVIEW
13 (2024) 443–444

brill.com/hlr

Contents

VOLUME 13, NO. 1

Editorial Note 1

Rosana Garciandia and Jean-Pierre Gauci

ARTICLES

Inter-State Human Rights Disputes: Mapping Dispute Resolution Options Including Conciliation 5

Merryl Lawry-White

Inter-State Applications under the European Convention on Human Rights – Situating the Instrument in the Current Human Rights Landscape 41

Isabella Risini and Tim Eicke

Inter-States Disputes Under the Inter-American Human Rights System 74

Jorge Contesse

Inter-State Complaints under the African Human Rights System: a Breeze of Change? 96

Frans Viljoen

The Path Less Taken? Interstate Conciliation and Human Rights 130

Eran Sthoeger

Inter-State Communications before UN Human Rights Treaty Bodies: Testing the Waters for Collective Communications 160

Rosana Garciandia and Jean-Pierre Gauci

Inter-State Cases under ICERD as an Avenue to Protect Cultural Heritage 190

David Keane

Making Something Out of (Almost) Nothing? Inter-State Human Rights Communications as Narrow Gateways for China's Accountability in the Xinjiang's Crisis 224

Veronica Botticelli

VOLUME 13, NO. 2

ARTICLES

Judicial Imposition of the Death Penalty and Corporal Punishment in Iran and Saudi Arabia for Unlawful Consensual Sexual Relations under Shari'a: A Human Rights Critique 265

Manisuli Ssenyonjo

Closing the Protection Gap Through a Legally Binding CEDAW Optional Protocol on Violence against Women and Girls 313

Rashida Manjoo and Christina Beninger

Navigating Admissibility Before the European Court of Human Rights for Lesbian and Gay Human Rights Defenders 359

Frances Hamilton and Naida Alagic-Bowder

Fatherhood in Turbulence: Recent and Contemporary Developments in Legal Fatherhood and Child Custody under European Human Rights Law 384

Tapio Koivula

Environmentally Induced Human Displacement and Human Rights: Bridging Legal Gaps Through a Human Rights-Based Approach 412

Dimitris Chotouras, Roxani Fragkou and Alexandros Tsadiras