

Yearbook of Islamic and
Middle Eastern Law
Online

CALL FOR PAPERS

YEARBOOK OF ISLAMIC AND MIDDLE EASTERN LAW
(YIMEL)

VOLUME 22 (2022)

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: 21 OCTOBER 2022

The Yearbook of Islamic and Middle Eastern Law (YIMEL) is accepting submissions for its forthcoming volume 22 (2022).

YIMEL is affiliated with the Centre for Islamic and Middle Eastern Law at SOAS, University of London. It is published by Brill annually and benefits from an international Board of Editors. It is available online and in print, and Advance Articles are published online throughout the year at:

<https://brill.com/view/journals/yimo/aop/issue.xml>

YIMEL is the leading publication on Islamic and Middle Eastern Law. It provides practice-relevant analysis of the latest legal trends on the laws of the MENA region and the Muslim world in the form of country surveys, peer-reviewed articles, case notes, and book reviews. It is the only global journal that comprehensively and regularly surveys the legal developments in the jurisdictions of the Muslim world, stretching from the Middle East to South and South East Asia. The journal is an essential source and point of reference for academics, practitioners and students who work on Islamic and Middle Eastern law.

To submit a manuscript, please visit:

<https://www.editorialmanager.com/yimo/default1.aspx>

For general enquiries, please contact the Editorial Team at: yimel@soas.ac.uk