Instructions for Authors

Scope

The ECHR Law Review (ECLR) is a peer-reviewed journal devoted to the system of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR). It aims to contribute to legal scholarship on the protection of fundamental human rights within the ECHR framework. The Review is a forum where, inter alia, comparative law, human rights law, international law and philosophy of law approaches are employed to study the practice and systemic features of the ECHR regime. The Review primarily favours legal (doctrinal, theoretical and philosophical) analysis, but also welcomes submissions of multi-disciplinary works at the crossroads of law, history, political science and economics. The mission of the Review is to deepen the understanding of the impact and working methods of the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR). Both young and established academics, as well as practitioners are encouraged to submit their papers to the ECHR Law Review.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

The publication of a manuscript in a peer-reviewed work is expected to follow standards of ethical behaviour for all parties involved in the act of publishing: authors, editors, and reviewers. Authors, editors, and reviewers should thoroughly acquaint themselves with Brill’s publication ethics, which may be downloaded here: brill.com/page/ethics/publication-ethics-cope-compliance. You are required to declare any competing interests, including any personal involvement or direct financial interest in a case or other matter being discussed. You are also required to disclose any financial support related to the manuscript.

Original Contributions

The Review accepts original contributions that have never been published before.

Online Submission

The Review uses online submission only. Authors should submit their manuscript online via the Editorial Manager (EM) online submission system at: editorialmanager.com/eclr. First-time users of EM need to register first. Go to the website and click on the ‘Register Now’ link in the login menu. Enter the information requested. Enter the information requested. During registration, you can fill in your username and password. If you should forget your Username and Password, click on the ‘Send Username/Password’ link in the login section, and enter your first name, last name and email address exactly as you had entered it when you registered. Your access codes will then be e-mailed to you. Prior to submission, authors are encouraged to read the ‘Instructions for Authors’. When submitting via the website, you will be guided stepwise through the creation and uploading of the various files. A revised document is uploaded the same way as the initial submission. The system automatically generates an electronic (PDF) proof, which is then used for reviewing purposes. All correspondence, including the editor’s request for revision and final decision, is sent by e-mail.

Double-blinded Peer Review

The Review uses a double-blind peer review system, which means that manuscript author(s) do not know who the reviewers are, and that reviewers do not know the names of the author(s). When you submit your article via Editorial Manager, you will be asked to submit a separate title page that includes: the full title of the manuscript, the names, affiliations, contact details and, where available, ORCID identifiers of all the authors; an abstract of no more than 150 words; and between 5 and 10 keywords; any acknowledgements and/or disclaimers; a declaration of any competing interests that are not apparent from affiliations or acknowledgments. The anonymised manuscript file should not contain any of the authors’ names, affiliations, contact details or acknowledgements, or language that would clearly identify the authors (for example, ‘as I have argued elsewhere ...’). References to previously published work by the author(s) of the paper should be removed from the footnotes.

Should your paper be selected by the editors for peer-review, these pages will not be accessible to the referees. All other files (manuscript, figures, tables, etc.) should not contain any information concerning author names, institutions, etc. The names of these files and the document properties should also be anonymised.

Revisions

If the editors believe a manuscript accepted for publication needs minor revisions, correction of errors in punctuation, spelling and style – such changes may be made by the editors. Manuscripts will not be sent back to you for review if the changes do not alter the meaning or sense of the original text, although you retain the ability to make minor corrections to the proofs.

Resubmission

You may be requested to resubmit a manuscript. (Re)submission of a manuscript does not automatically guarantee publication.

Submissions Originally Published in Another Language

If you wish to have a manuscript previously published in a foreign language considered by the Review for first publication in English translation, you should state so at the time of submission. You may be asked to provide the relevant approval by the copyright holder, who may be the original publisher.

Special Issue Proposals

Submissions by guest editors of proposed special issues should be sent to the editors-in-chief. They must include: the name(s), affiliation(s) and short bio(s) of the guest editor(s); a note (up to 1000 words) explaining the purpose and rationale of the proposed issue; the titles and abstracts of papers; the names, affiliations and short bios of the authors; the anticipated timeframe. Guest editors are expected to submit an introductory note and/or conclusions to the special issue. The standard double blind peer-review rules apply to all pieces in special issues.
Instructions for Authors

File Format

Please upload manuscript files in Microsoft Word format (.doc, .docx) or Rich Text Format (.rtf) and follow the Review's points of style and rules of citation, found below.

Contact Address

For any questions or problems relating to your manuscript please contact the Editors, Prof. Kanstantsin Dzehtsiarou: K.Dzehtsiarou@liverpool.ac.uk and Dr. Vassilis Tzevelekos: V.Tzevelekos@liverpool.ac.uk; For book reviews, please contact Dr. Kushtrim Istrefi: k.istrefi@uu.nl.

For eventual questions about Editorial Manager, authors can also contact the Brill EM Support Department at: em@brill.com.

Timeliness and the Editors’ Role

The Review is committed to processing submissions as quickly as possible. The editors will normally make a decision as to whether to send a paper to referees within two weeks. Referees will be asked to report within four weeks. However, the time before a final decision can be made will depend on the availability of referees and the nature of their feedback. The editors aim to give a final decision within two months and, whenever possible, to give reasons if they do not accept a paper. The editors can add their comments on the paper next to the comments by the peer-reviewers at any stage of the process.

Submission Requirements

Language

Manuscripts should be written in British English. Spelling should be consistent throughout, conforming to the Concise Oxford Dictionary and Oxford Dictionary for Writers and Editors. Quotations may appear in a language other than English if there is no authentic text or official translation. Such quotations must be accompanied by a translation into English. The authors are encouraged to keep these quotations to an absolute minimum.

Gender-inclusive language should be used whenever possible. For example, use ‘person’ or ‘human’ rather than ‘man’ where appropriate. Use ‘he or she’ if needed, but consider plural where possible (for example, ‘children receive their education’ instead of ‘a child receives his or her education’). Alternatively, the use of ‘they’ and ‘their’ as singular pronouns is acceptable (for example, ‘a child receives their education’).

Please write ‘case law’ and not ‘case-law’.
Instructions for Authors

Length
The Review publishes the following main types of scholarly work: articles (up to 18,000 words); case notes (up to 10,000 words); and book reviews (up to 1,500 words).

Manuscript Structure

The rules below apply to all types of publications with the following exceptions and specifications regarding book reviews and case notes. For general matters of style, refer to the New Oxford Style Manual.

Book Reviews
Abstracts and key words are not needed. Instead of a title, the book review should provide the full bibliographic reference of the book reviewed. Only books relevant to the ECHR will be reviewed. Reviews are expected to be critical but not polemical. The reviews must attempt to identify both the strengths and the weaknesses of the book.

Case Notes
Abstracts are not needed. The Review only publishes notes on the cases of the ECtHR; however, relevant case law of other institutions can be considered. Each case note should start by providing the information below in the following format:

- Leading Case: European Court of Human Rights, Name of the case application number (ECtHR, date decided), Decision on Admissibility / Merits / Just Satisfaction
- Section of the Court: GC or relevant section
- Applicable Convention Rights: Article x ECHR – violation, Article x ECHR – no violation
- Primary Legal Issues:
- Link to Case: (relying on the links generated by the HUDOC database)

Abstract and Keywords
Authors should include an abstract of not more than 150 words, as well as 5-10 keywords.

Headings
The use of headings and subheadings is encouraged. Capitalise all significant words in headings. Distinguish headings clearly from the main text and number them as follows:

Acronyms

Introduce acronyms on first appearance – for example, the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR). Do not use full stops in acronyms – for example, UN, US, WHO, ECHR, ILC.

Capitalisation

Capitalise all significant words in titles of legal instruments, books and articles (European Convention on Human Rights, Great Debates on the European Convention on Human Rights), and when referring to specific rules, acts, organs and office-holders (Article 1 of Protocol 1 to the European Convention on Human Rights). Do not capitalise the word 'state' when referring to a sovereign state. Do not capitalise the words 'member states'.

Dates

Italics

Use italics for words or phrases that you wish to emphasise. When adding emphasis in a quoted passage, indicate it in the corresponding footnote with (emphasis added).

Use italics for short foreign phrases or individual words (Cour de Cassation, per se), names of cases (Burdov No 2 judgment, Handyside v the United Kingdom), and the titles of books and periodicals (Law of the European Convention on Human Rights, Human Rights Law Review). Do not italicise the titles of legal instruments.

Quotations

Use single, rather than double, inverted commas for short quotations in the main text. Use double inverted commas for quotations within quotations. Indent longer quotations without inverted commas. Place punctuation outside the closing quotation mark when the sentence is incomplete; otherwise, where the full stop belongs to the quotation, place it inside. Lengthy quotations of 3 lines or longer should be included as a block quotation; proceeded by a colon and a line space, indented and then followed by a line space. Do not use italics or quotation marks.

References
To the extent that they do not contradict the special rules given below in this section, provide all references in the footnotes and format them according to the Oxford Standard for the Citation of Legal Authorities (OSCOLA) and its complementary Citing International Law Sources Section. Format any citation for a source not covered by OSCOLA as you see fit and highlight it for the benefit of the editors. Ibid (not italicised) as an abbreviation for ibidem may be used for a second footnote identical to the one above. Do not use supra, infra, ante, id, op cit, loc cit, contra. For cross-references use: n + number of fn to which reference is made; e.g. (n 42).

All figures are published in greyscale, not in colour. Please supply all figures in black and white. Figures should be of high quality. For photographs, a minimum resolution of 300 dpi is required; for linework, we require a minimum resolution of 600 dpi at the dimensions at which the image is to be reproduced. The image itself should be clear and legible. Each figure should have a caption; credit lines and permissions should be included in the figure captions.

Supplementary Media / Data Files
To support and enhance your manuscript, the Review accepts electronic supplementary material, including supporting applications, high-resolution images, background datasets, sound or video clips, large appendices, data tables and other items that cannot be included in the article PDF itself. Authors should submit the material in electronic format together with the other manuscript files and supply a concise and descriptive caption for each file. In order to ensure that your submitted material is directly usable, please provide the data in one of the broadly accepted file formats for video, audio, etc. and limit the file size (e.g., for video: max. 3 GB). Supplementary files supplied will be published online at FigShare (www.figshare.com), to which reference is made in the published article on Brill Online Books and Journals, and vice versa. Links must be given clearly in the text to this material.

Publication

Proofs
Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to each author by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed. Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication and, therefore, are not accepted unless charged to the author. Proofs should be returned promptly.

Advance Access
Articles are published online as soon as possible after they have been accepted for publication, in advance of their appearance in a printed issue of the Review. Such Advance Access versions of articles can be cited by a unique Digital Object Identifier (DOI). When an article appears in an issue of the Review, it is removed from the Advance Access page.
Instructions for Authors

E-offprints
A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO yellow publisher. The Author retains the right to self-archive the submitted (pre-peer-review) version of the article at any time. The submitted version of an article is the author’s version that has not been peer-reviewed, nor had any value added to it by Brill (such as formatting or copy editing). The Author retains the right to self-archive the accepted (peer-reviewed) version without any embargo period. The accepted version means the version which has been accepted for publication and contains all revisions made after peer reviewing and copy editing, but has not yet been typeset in the publisher’s lay-out. The publisher’s lay-out must not be used in any repository or on any website (brill.com/resources/authors/publishing-books-brill/self-archiving-rights).

Consent to Publish

Transfer of Copyright
By submitting a manuscript, the author agrees that the copyright for the article is transferred to the Publisher if and when the article is accepted for publication. For that purpose, the author needs to sign the Consent to Publish which will be sent with the first proofs of the manuscript.

Open Access
Should the author wish to publish the article in Open Access he/she can choose the Brill Open option. This allows for non-exclusive Open Access publication under a Creative Commons license in exchange for an Article Publication Charge (APC), upon signing a special Brill Open Consent to Publish Form. More information on Brill Open can be found on brill.com/brillopen.
