

Scope

Brill's Handbook Series in Memory Studies is a multi-volume, multi-disciplinary, and transnational reference guide to the rapidly expanding field of memory studies in the global context. Mapping existing and new terrains in memory studies, the series approaches the question of memory regionally and thematically. It offers comprehensive overviews of key debates, summarizes central theoretical insights, defines keywords, provides illustrative case studies, and identifies emerging directions in memory studies within and across regions and themes. The series features contributions from established and emerging scholars across different continents and disciplines who center memory in their analyses of the past, present, and future.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

The publication of a manuscript in a peer-reviewed work is expected to follow standards of ethical behavior for all parties involved in the act of publishing: authors, editors, and reviewers. Authors, editors, and reviewers should thoroughly acquaint themselves with Brill's publication ethics, which may be downloaded here: brill.com/page/ethics/publication-ethics-cope-compliance.

Submission

File Format

Please send source files such as .doc (word files), and not .pdf files.

Submission Requirements

Papers that are submitted for initial consideration should be complete, including all notes, bibliographical references, tables, etc. The manuscript pages should be numbered consecutively, double-spaced and with wide margins on all sides.

Language

Articles should be written in English. Spelling should be consistent throughout. Brill's preferred language for typesetting is American-English, if you prefer to write in British-English, please make this explicit to the Volume Editors (we will then apply appropriate hyphenation rules).

Typography

Authors are discouraged from submitting typographically elaborate contributions. Emphasis in the text (bold, letter spacing, italics) should be used sparingly.

Instructions for Authors

Italics should be reserved for titles of works in the running text of the contribution (e.g.: in Carolus Stuardus by Andreas Gryphius, and should not be used for the titles of poems: in Opitz' "Auff Herrn David Müllers Seeligen Abschied"). Latin concepts are not italicized.

In English language contributions, uncommon foreign terms may be italicized as usual.

Unicode and Non-Roman Fonts

The Editors request the use of Unicode fonts only. For the complete list of Latin and IPA characters in Unicode: brill.com/fileasset/downloads_static/static_fonts_latinipaunicodelist.pdf.

Transliteration and Orthography

Where possible, all examples from languages not using the Latin alphabet should be transliterated using an accepted system of transliteration. Authors should use their chosen system consistently throughout the manuscript.

Where no standard system has been adopted in the literature (e.g. examples of certain dialects never described before), use symbols to represent sounds that are as close to the IPA symbols as possible, and give explanations where appropriate.

Where a transliteration system is already used in the literature, no new transliteration system invented by the author will be accepted.

For glosses the Leipzig Glossing Rules should be followed. More specific font guidelines can be found online at:

brill.com/fileasset/downloads_static/static_publishingbooks_formatting_glosses_linguistic_examples.pdf.

Length

Articles should not exceed 12,000 words. The following should be included: abstract (100 to 150 words), up to six keywords, affiliation details and an e-mail address.

Manuscript Structure

Chapters that are submitted should be complete, including all notes, bibliographical references, tables, etc. The manuscript pages should be numbered consecutively, double-spaced and with wide margins on all sides.

Use a normal, plain font (e.g., 10-point Times Roman) for text. Do not use desktop publishing features such as justification, centering, or boldface type. Use italics for emphasis. Do not hyphenate words at the end of a line. TAB should be restricted to a paragraph indent.

Abstracts

Articles should be accompanied by an abstract of not more than 150 words in English. This will be reproduced following the title of the contribution. It will be used for promotional purposes and for pre-publication announcements.

Headings

Numbering headings and subheadings is encouraged.

1 The First Level Heading

1.1 The Second Level Heading

Footnotes

Please use your word processing program's footnote functions and use footnotes, not endnotes. Single notes should not exceed half a printed page in length.

Bibliography

General Notes

- Do not use dashes for repeated author names.
- Capitalization of titles in both headline-style or sentence-style is allowed. Please follow the same capitalization style as in the original title.
- Reverse italics in titles are permitted when applicable.
- The Reference List should be presented in roman script. Use a transcribed version of the reference where necessary. The original script can be included within square brackets.
- See the examples below. Please note that this means that an author's personal names should in the rule be presented in full, but if only the initial is given in the original, please use that instead.

Citations in the Text

Long stretches of in-text references should be provided in footnotes rather than in the main text.

Please only give the last name of the author, the year and, if applicable, the page number(s): Breiner (1996: 158-167) or (Breiner, 1996).

In-text references to more than one author should be as follows: (Wierzbicka, 1991; Montes, 1999: 36).

The full details should be given in the final section of the article, under "References".

Quotations

Short "Quotes" from primary or secondary sources should be retained within the body of the text and should be indicated as such using double quotation marks. Punctuation that belongs to the quoted material should be placed before the closing double quotation mark; punctuation that originates from the author should be placed after the closing quotation mark. Longer quotations (more than four lines in the typescript) should be displayed as block quotes in left-to-right indented form in a separate paragraph, single spaced and without quotation marks. Expressions used in the sense of 'so-called'

(e.g. 17th century 'Erbauungsliteratur') as well as quotations within quotations should be enclosed in single quotation marks. Spelling within quotes should reflect the original. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of quotations.

The journal uses only quotation marks in "international" style.

Figures and Tables

Figures and tables should be numbered with Arabic numerals, and cited consecutively in the text. Figures should be submitted as separate source files in .eps, .tif, or .jpg format, in a size suitable for the typesetting area of the journal. The resolution of these files should be at least 300 dpi for half-tone figures, and 600 dpi for line drawings. Number the files, and indicate in the manuscript where they are to appear (Fig. 1 here). For the reproduction of black and white (or colored) illustrations high resolution files (format: JPEG) are to be provided. A resolution of 300 dpi is sufficient for images of printed material (title pages, etc.).

The text in a figure must be legible, and should not be smaller than corps 7. The size of this lettering for any text in a figure should be the same for all figures in the manuscript.

Publication

Proofs

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to the author by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. In the event of a multi-authored contribution, proofs are sent to the first-named author unless otherwise requested. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. Proofs should be returned promptly. The wording of a contribution as submitted by the author and approved by the editors is binding, so only minor corrections are permissible at this stage in the production process. Alterations to the original manuscript at this point will result in considerable delay in publication and will therefore only be accepted if the author agrees to cover the ensuing costs. The contributors receive the galley proofs once. The page proofs are controlled by the editors.

E-offprints

A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO yellow publisher. The Author retains the right to self-archive the submitted (pre-peer-review) version of the article at any time. The submitted version of an article is the author's version that has not been peer-reviewed, nor had any value added to it by Brill (such as formatting or copy editing). The Author retains the right to self-archive the accepted (peer-reviewed) version. The accepted version means the version which has been accepted for publication and contains all revisions made after peer reviewing and copy editing, but has not yet been typeset in the publisher's lay-out. The publisher's layout must not be used in any repository or on any website (brill.com/resources/authors/publishing-books-brill/self-archiving-rights).

Consent to Publish

Transfer of Copyright

By submitting a manuscript, the author agrees that the copyright for the article is transferred to the publisher if and when the article is accepted for publication. For that purpose, the author needs to sign the Consent to Publish form, which will be sent by the Editors before the first proofs of the manuscript.

Open Access

Should the author wish to publish the article in Open Access he/she can choose the Brill Open option. This allows for non-exclusive Open Access publication under a Creative Commons license in exchange for an Article Publication Charge (APC), upon signing a special Brill Open Consent to Publish Form. More information on Brill Open can be found on brill.com/brillopen.
