Scope

The Journal of Greek Linguistics (JGL) is an established (double-anonymous) peer-reviewed international journal dedicated to the descriptive and theoretical study of the Greek language from its roots in Ancient Greek down to present-day dialects and varieties, including those spoken in Asia Minor, Cyprus, Tsakonia, and the Greek diaspora. It aims to offer a focused outlet for publication of first-class research in Greek Linguistics, broadly construed. JGL's goal is not only to reach linguists interested in the Greek language but also to engage the linguistics community and Hellenists more generally. The input to JGL will thus comprise any topic relevant to Greek linguistics, in the broadest sense, but with some preference given to material with wider relevance to specific subfields within linguistics proper. The intention is therefore on the one hand to encourage discussions and research that illuminate different aspects - theoretical, historical, and descriptive - of general linguistics using Greek data, and on the other hand to offer innovative solutions to problems and issues specific to the description and analysis of the Greek language. Greek has played a central role in linguistics and the study of language for centuries. JGL will bring the language into a key position in current debate within Linguistics and related fields.

Open Access

The Journal of Greek Linguistics is a fully Open Access journal, which means that all content will be freely accessible online. All articles are published under a non-exclusive Open Access license in exchange for an Article Publication Charge (APC) which needs to be met by the authors or their research funders. Full waivers are offered only to authors residing in Greece and affiliated with a Greek institution. For more information on this journal's APCs and Brill Open Access, go to brill.com/openaccess or contact: openaccess@brill.com.

Brill has established various institutional Open Access agreements with consortia and leading university libraries across the globe. These agreements allow eligible authors to publish open access without paying an article publication charge (APC). Please visit Brill Transformative Agreements for more information. The author keeps full copyright and gives Brill permission to publish by signing a special Brill Open Access Consent to Publish form. The Brill Open Access Consent to Publish form will be sent by the responsible desk editor.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

The publication of a manuscript in a peer-reviewed work is expected to follow standards of ethical behavior for all parties involved in the act of publishing: authors, editors, and reviewers. Authors, editors, and reviewers should thoroughly acquaint themselves with Brill's publication ethics, which may be downloaded here: brill.com/page/ethics/publication-ethics-cope-compliance.

Online Submission

Authors are now encouraged to submit their manuscript online via the Editorial Manager (EM) online submission system at editorialmanager.com/JGL. Online submission considerably shortens the overall time-lag from submission to publication.

Instructions for Authors

Books for review and announcements of such (including announcement of interest in writing a review) should be sent to Brian D. Joseph (bjoseph@ling.ohio-state.edu).

Double-anonymous Peer Review

All submitted papers will be subject to double-anonymous peer review. For the purpose of reviewing the draft paper should be anonymous. No author details should be identifiable from the article itself or in the acknowledgements. When you submit your article via Editorial Manager, you will be asked to submit a separate title page that includes the full title of the manuscript, the names and complete contact details of all authors, the abstract, keywords, and any acknowledgement texts.

Contact Address

For additional information or if you need help in uploading your manuscript please visit the author tutorial or online help links given at the right side of the log-in window. For questions about Editorial Manager directly, authors can contact the Brill EM Support Department (em@brill.com). For any questions regarding Open Access, please contact the open access department at openaccess@brill.com. For remaining questions please contact the editors through Anna Roussou (aroussou@upatras.gr).

Submission Requirements

Language

Articles and book reviews should be written in English. Spelling (British or American) should be consistent throughout.

Unicode and Non-Roman Fonts

The Editors request the use of Unicode-friendly fonts only. Updated versions of Times New Roman in Microsoft Windows contain Greek Unicode fonts. For the complete list of Latin and IPA characters in Unicode: brill.com/fileasset/downloads_static/static_fonts_latinipaunicodelist.pdf.

Transliteration and Orthography

Where possible, all examples from languages not using the Latin alphabet should be transliterated using an accepted system of transliteration. Authors should use their chosen system consistently throughout the manuscript.

Where no standard system has been adopted in the literature (e.g. examples of certain dialects never described before), use symbols to represent sounds that are as close to the IPA symbols as possible, and give explanations where appropriate.

Where a transliteration system is already used in the literature, no new transliteration system invented by the author will be accepted. When using Greek, please check the information online at: brill.com/fileasset/downloads_static/static_fonts_greek.pdf.

Instructions for Authors

Length

Articles should not exceed 10,000 words (general and research articles) or 1500-3000 words for book reviews. The following should be included: abstract (100 to 150 words), up to six keywords, affiliation details and e-mail address.

Manuscript Structure

General

Papers that are submitted for initial consideration should be complete, including all notes, bibliographical references, tables, etc.

The journal reserves the right to copy-edit contributions to conform to its style.

Authors should not use desktop publishing features such as justification, centering, or bold-face type. Italics should be indicated by using proper italics. Do not hyphenate words at the end of a line. TAB should be restricted to a paragraph indent.

For general rules on style, see the Chicago Manual of Style, 16th ed., University of Chicago Press, 2010 (chicagomanualofstyle.org/home.html), or the most recent edition) or the MLA Style Guide.

The final draft of a manuscript accepted for publication must be submitted both as hard copy and electronically. Electronic files should be saved in .pdf format. Final versions and printouts must be proofread carefully before submission; please use your spelling and grammar check.

Abstracts

Articles should include a short abstract (150 words).

Keywords

Please supply 2-6 keywords (in lowercase letters), to be placed below the abstract, for indexing purposes.

Glosses

To ensure correct alignment, all glosses must be given in table form, please follow the Leipzig Glossing rules, a description of which is given here: eva.mpg.de/lingua/pdf/Glossing-Rules.pdf.

Publication

Proofs

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to the author by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. In the event of a multi-authored contribution, proofs are sent to the first-named author unless otherwise requested. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed. Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication and, therefore, are not accepted unless charged to the author. Proofs should be returned promptly.
