Scope

Political Anthropological Research on International Social Sciences (PARISS) encourages transversal social inquiries. The journal seeks to transcend disciplinary, linguistic and cultural fragmentations characteristic of scholarship in the 20th century. It aspires to reinvigorate scholarly engagements untroubled by canonic approaches and to provide a space for outstanding scholarship, marginalized elsewhere due to academic conventions (of contemporary anglophone scholarship). PARISS seeks to promote a plurality of ways of thinking, researching and writing and to give access to contemporary authors in the social sciences coming from non-English-speaking countries. The editors encourage contributions that write across disciplines, academic cultures and writing styles. Innovative and collective research is particularly welcome.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

The publication of a manuscript in a peer-reviewed work is expected to follow standards of ethical behaviour for all parties involved in the act of publishing: authors, editors, and reviewers. Authors, editors, and reviewers should thoroughly acquaint themselves with Brill's publication ethics, which may be downloaded here: brill.com/page/ethics/publication-ethics-cope-compliance.

Manuscript Submission

Authors should submit their manuscript online via the Editorial Manager (EM) online submission system at editorialmanager.com/pari or by e-mailing the Editorial Office directly at parisseditorial@gmail.com.

Prior to submission, authors are encouraged to read the 'Instructions for Authors'. When submitting via the website, you will be guided stepwise through the creation and uploading of the various files.

A revised document is uploaded the same way as the initial submission. The system automatically generates an electronic (PDF) proof, which is then used for reviewing purposes. All correspondence, including the editor's request for revision and final decision, is sent by e-mail.

Authors also have the opportunity to suggest and oppose reviewers by submitting the names and (e-mail) addresses.

Double-blind Peer Review

PARISS uses a double-blind peer review system, which means that manuscript author(s) do not know who the reviewers are and that reviewers do not know the names of the author(s).

Instructions for Authors

When you submit your article via Editorial Manager, you will be asked to submit a separate title page that includes the full title of the manuscript, the names and complete contact details of all authors, the abstract, keywords, and any acknowledgement texts. This page will not be accessible to the referees. All other files (manuscript, figures, tables, etc.) should not contain any information concerning author names, institutions, etc. The names of these files and the document properties should also be anonymised.

File Format

Text files should preferably be in either WordPerfect or Microsoft Word format and saved as .doc, .wpd, .txt or .rtf. Illustrations files should always be submitted separately as source files.

Contact Address

For any questions or problems relating to your manuscript emailing the Editorial Office directly at parisseditorial@gmail.com. For any questions about Editorial Manager, authors can also contact the Brill EM Support Department at: em@brill.com.

Submission Requirements

Language

All contributions to the Journal should be written in British English. Spelling should be consistent throughout. Please use your spelling and grammar check in the chosen language.

Non-Roman Scripts and Transliteration

Single words or phrases in a non-Roman script must be fully transliterated. Indented quotations may be given a non-Roman script, as long as they are clearly legible. Unvocalised text should be used, unless the argument calls for a vocalised form. When transliteration is used, the system should be identified in a note. The first usage of a non-English word should be followed by the translation in parentheses, e.g., affogati (smothered). Diacritical marks should be used where appropriate (e.g., in German, umlauts should be used rather than spelling with an extra “e”; the “sharps”, however, may be rendered by “ss”).

Length

- Individually authored or co-authored original research articles (up to 3 authors; approximately 7,000-11,000 words including footnotes) and collectively authored original research articles (3+ authors; 10,000-25,000 words including footnotes)
- Book reviews, interviews, commentaries, and shorter articles focused on research methodologies (all up to 5,000 words).

Instructions for Authors

Manuscript Structure

General Information

The Journal reserves the right to copy-edit contributions to conform to its style.

Manuscript pages should be numbered consecutively and double-spaced.

Although they will be published as footnotes, notes may also be submitted as endnotes, consecutively numbered, and included as a separate document. Captions (including proper acknowledgements) should be placed at the appropriate position in the article text or sent separately.

Do not use desktop publishing features such as justification, centring, or different fonts within the body of the text. The use of italics should be limited to non-English words, book titles, and sub-sections. If a special font is used, please provide a copy of the font. TAB should be restricted to a paragraph indent.

For general rules on style, please refer to the Chicago Manual of Style (16th ed., University of Chicago Press, 2010, or the most recent edition), online at: chicagomanualofstyle.org.

Typeface

Please use 12-point Times New Roman, with single line-spacing.

Section Headings

The first section of any article requires a section heading to differentiate the article body from the front matter (abstract and keywords). The default heading is Introduction. No other section headings are required, but others may be included.

First level section headings should be in bold, followed by a carriage return.

Second level headings should be bold italics, with no carriage return.

Section breaks with no heading should be preceded by an extra, blank line to designate them.

Do not indent the first paragraph following a section heading.

Order headings should be used to structure the text in the style 1, 1.1, 1.2, etc.).

Abstracts and Keywords

Each article should include an abstract and keywords. Abstracts should be no more than 150 words, written in English, which clearly defines the article's thesis.

Keywords are a list of three to eight words that classify the article. Keywords can include names of historical actors, places, sources used, concepts, or any other term that would be useful in electronic searches for the article.

Bibliography

Original research articles, historiographical articles, and review articles, should be accompanied by a full bibliography of works cited, adhering to the following style.

Instructions for Authors

General

Do not use dashes for repeated author names.

Author's personal names should in the rule be presented in full. However, if only the initial is given in the original, please use that instead.

Capitalisation of titles in both headline-style or sentence-style is allowed. Please follow the same capitalisation style as in the original title.

Reverse italics in titles are permitted when applicable.

The Reference List should be presented in roman script. Use a transcribed version of the reference where necessary. The original script can be included within square brackets.

Instructions for Authors

Footnotes

Although in final publication your notes will be typeset as footnotes, the references can also be formatted as consecutively numbered endnotes.

References in texts and notes should be written in truncated 'Chicago' style (no publisher):

- Bruce Elleman, Modern Chinese Warfare, 1795-1989 (London, 2001), 94-115;
- Zhang Ming, Longqi piaoyang de jiandui: Zhongguo jindai haijun xingshuaishi (The Fleet that Flies the Dragon Flag: the Rise and Fall of the Modern Chinese Navy) (Beijing, 2002);
- Ian Nish, "Britain and the Sino-Japanese War, 1894-5", in Collected Writings of Ian Nish, Part I, (Richmond, 2002), 9-21;
- Jacques Hymans, "Why Recognize? Explaining Victorian Britain's Decision to Recognize the Sovereignty of Imperial Japan", The Korean Journal of International Studies 12 (2014): 61;
- Damaris Moore Corrigan, "Riders on High: An Interdisciplinary Study of the Macedonian Cavalry of Alexander the Great", Ph.D. diss., University of Texas at Austin, 2004.

Bibliographic references should be given in full upon first mention. Repeated mention of the same reference should be abbreviated as follows:

- Carlson, Marriage, 12; McDermott, "Bondservants in the T'ai-hu Basin," 690.

References to recent literature should preferably be to the original editions, not or not only to reprints or translations. (See the Chicago Manual of Style for additional guidelines).

Figures

Illustrations should be submitted electronically and should be clearly marked. When necessary, crops, horizontal or vertical orientation, enlargement of details, etc. should be indicated.

All figures and tables must be cited consecutively in the text.

Figures should be submitted as separate source files in .eps, .tif, or .jpg format, in a size suitable for the typesetting area of the journal. The resolution of these files should be at least 300 dpi for half-tone figures, and 600 dpi for line drawings. Number the files, and indicate in the manuscript where they are to appear (Fig. 1 here).

The text in a figure must be legible, and should not be smaller than corps 7. The size of this lettering for any text in a figure should be the same for all figures in the manuscript.

Captions (including proper acknowledgements) should be placed at the appropriate position with the map or illustration or sent separately, clearly labelled in the file name.

Abbreviations and Acronyms

Any abbreviation or acronyms used should appear in full on its first appearance in the manuscript, with the abbreviation or acronym in parentheses: International Journal of Military History and Historiography (IJMH). The shortened version may be used thereafter.

Instructions for Authors

Capitalisation

Follow the most recent edition of Oxford English Dictionary for questions on capitalisation.

Dates and Time

Use the day, month, year, format.

In referring to time periods, please observe the following styles:

- Do not use “in the sixteenth century,” rather, say “in the 16th century” (noun) or “in 16th-century literature” (adjective)
- Use “mid-17th century” (noun) or “mid-17th-century” (adjective)
- In “the 1580s,” or “the mid-1400s”
- “Between 1780 and 1785” but “the 1780-1785 period”

Numbers

Please write out all numbers up to and including 100, as well as any numbers that can be written in two words (e.g. five hundred, twenty-six hundred). The exception to this rule occurs when a heavy cluster of numbers appears within a single sentence or paragraph, in which case numerals should be used.

Spell out fractional amounts (e.g. one-third, three-fourths) and do not use abbreviated notion for numerical ranges; use expressions such as “170 to 179” in the body of the text and “170-179” for page ranges in notes.

Where percentages are necessary, use numerals for the amounts and spell out the word per cent (e.g. “While 47 per cent of researchers...”). When percentages appear in parentheses to provide greater detail, use numerals and the percent symbol (e.g., “The majority (51%) of the researchers...”).

Quotations

For shorter quotations, double quotation marks (“ ”) should be used for the first level of quotation, and single quotation marks for quotations within quotations. Place periods and commas within quotes, but colons and semi-colons should be outside the quotation marks.

Quotations of more than four lines should be indented and double-spaced. They should not be enclosed in quotation marks.

Instructions for Authors

Publication

Proofs

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to authors by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. In the event of a multi-authored contribution, proofs are sent to the corresponding author unless otherwise requested. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed. Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication and, therefore, substantial author's rewriting will be charged to the contributor in question. Proofs should be returned promptly.

E-offprints

A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO yellow publisher. The Author retains the right to self-archive the submitted (pre-peer-review) version of the article at any time. The submitted version of an article is the author's version that has not been peer-reviewed, nor had any value added to it by Brill (such as formatting or copy editing). The Author retains the right to self-archive the accepted (peer-reviewed) version after an embargo period of 12 months. The accepted version means the version which has been accepted for publication and contains all revisions made after peer reviewing and copy editing, but has not yet been typeset in the publisher's lay-out. The publisher's lay-out must not be used in any repository or on any website (brill.com/resources/authors/publishing-books-brill/self-archiving-rights).

Consent to Publish

Transfer of Copyright

By submitting a manuscript, the author agrees that the copyright for the article is transferred to the publisher if and when the article is accepted for publication. For that purpose the author needs to sign the Consent to Publish which will be sent with the first proofs of the manuscript.

Open Access

Should the author wish to publish the article in Open Access he/she can choose the Brill Open option. This allows for non-exclusive Open Access publication under a Creative Commons license in exchange for an Article Publication Charge (APC), upon signing a special Brill Open Consent to Publish Form. More information on Brill Open can be found on brill.com/brillopen.
