

The Pocket Books of The Hague Academy of International Law / Les livres de poche de l'Académie de droit international de La Haye

brill.com/hapb

In addition to the prestigious Collected Courses of The Hague Academy of International Law in hardback, the Curatorium of the Academy has decided to yearly publish, in English or French, certain courses from the private or public international law sessions in the form of low-cost "pocket books". These courses, given to the Academy's students by eminent specialists, focus on topics which are of particular interest, especially from a pedagogical perspective, to students and, more generally, to all who take an interest in the principal questions of international law. With this new publication, the Academy hopes to fully fulfil its role in the diffusion and promotion of international law, by making it accessible to all.

International Arbitration and Private International Law

George A. Bermann,
Columbia Law School

Arbitrators and courts take guidance in their private international law inquiries from multiple sources: party agreement, institutional rules, treaties, the national law of competing jurisdictions and an abundance of "soft law", some of which may even be regarded as expressing an international standard. In a world of this sort, private international law resourcefulness is fundamental.

International Law Relating to Islands

Sean D. Murphy

This monograph considers the application of general rules of international law to islands, as well as special rules focused on islands, notably Article 121 of the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea. Such rules have been applied in several landmark cases in recent years.

Collected Courses of The Hague Academy of International Law - Recueil des cours

Académie de droit international de La Haye - Hague Academy of International Law

brill.com/radi

The Academy is a prestigious international institution for the study and teaching of public and private international law and related subjects. The work of the Hague Academy receives the support and recognition of the UN. Its purpose is to encourage a thorough and impartial examination of the problems arising from international relations in the field of law. The courses deal with the theoretical and practical aspects of the subject, including legislation and case law. All courses at the Academy are, in principle, published in the language in which they were delivered in the Collected Courses of The Hague Academy of International Law.

Women's Human Rights and the Elimination of Discrimination / Les droits des femmes et l'élimination de la discrimination

Edited by Maarit Jänterä-Jareborg, Uppsala University, and Hélène Tigroudja, l'Aix-Marseille Université

Despite global undertakings to safeguard the full enjoyment of human rights, culture, traditional practices and religion are widely used to discriminate against women. In this volume 17 scholars approach women's human rights globally, regionally and nationally, combining the perspectives of public and private international law in a hitherto unique manner. Comprehensive legal, culture-based and theoretical overviews are combined with analyses of topical issues, such as unbalanced sex-ratios, intercountry adoption, women as refugees or as "surrogate mothers", violence against women and cross-border enforcement of protection orders.
