Jurisdiction and Admissibility in Investment Arbitration

The Practice and the Theory

Filippo Fontanelli, The University of Edinburgh

In this work, Filippo Fontanelli analyses the notions of jurisdiction and admissibility in investment arbitration. The first part takes stock of the arbitration practice. The second part interrogates these notions within the wider theory of international law and reveals the effects of their inherent fuzziness on the work of investment tribunals.

Fair and Equitable Treatment

Its Interaction with the Minimum Standard and Its Customary Status

Patrick Dumberry, Faculty of Law, University of Ottawa

This book examines the interaction between the concept of the 'minimum standard of treatment' under custom and the fair and equitable treatment (FET) standard found in the vast majority of BITs. It also analyses whether the FET standard should be considered as a rule of customary international law.

The Legal Protection of Personality Rights

Chinese and European Perspectives

Ken Oliphant, University of Bristol, Zhang Pinghua, Yantai University, and Chen Lei, City University of Hong Kong

This book aims to investigate the way in which personality rights are protected in China through a comparative and cross-cultural lens drawing on perspectives from Europe and elsewhere in the world. Currently, the question whether or not to incorporate a special law on personal rights – the right to life, the right to health, and the rights to reputation and privacy – into a future Chinese Civil Code is heatedly debated in the Chinese legal community.
