Ease of use – Improved search refinement.

Easily accessed on mobile devices.

Open Access: Plan S & Brill

The recently published Plan S, authored by the European Commission and supported by 12 research funders, aims to achieve full Open Access of funded research articles after 2020. At Brill, we support all forms of sustainable Open Access and work closely with funders and research organizations to implement new mandates. Brill has various options for Open Access journal publishing, and is one of the largest Open Access book publishers in the Arts and Humanities, Social Sciences, International Law, and Biology.

If you would like to know more about opportunities for your work to be made available in Open Access, or if you have questions related to publishing funded research in Open Access, please do not hesitate to get in touch with brillopen@brill.com or your relevant acquisitions editor.

New: Brill Companions Online

Brill Companions Online is a suite of e-book collections comprising state-of-the-art research companions in various subject fields within the Humanities. Peer reviewed and written by experts, these handbooks offer balanced accounts at an advanced level, along with an overview of the state of scholarship and a synthesis of debate, pointing the way for future research. Designed for students and scholars, the books explain what sources there are, what methodologies and approaches are appropriate in dealing with them, what issues arise and how they have been treated, and what room there is for disagreement. We have collections in 4 main subject categories: Asian Studies; Classical Studies; History; Middle East and Islamic Studies; Religious Studies, Theology and Philosophy. More information on brill.com/CBO

If your library purchases access to the collection, each volume is available to you in paperback for only eur/usd 25. Inform you librarian!

Brill in India

In August of this year, representatives of the company visited universities in Delhi, Sonipat, Gandhinagar, Bangalore, Hyderabad, Pune, and met with researchers, students and trade partners. Our colleagues gave workshops on how to publish academic research as a book or journal article with an international scholarly publisher.
