NOTARIES OF SYRACUSE
Sicily

Not. Nicolò Vallone

Syracuse, 17 March 1479

Source: ASS, Not. Nicolò Vallone, reg. 10227, cc. 84v–85r.
Publication: Scandaliato-Mulè, Sinagoga e bagno rituale, p. 143.

Sadía, Simon and Chua, sons of Naíma, widow of Salamon Israel, Jews of Syracuse, at their mother’s behest, pay Michele de Francorussu six ounces for the redemption of some houses, situated in the Jewish quarter. They are entitled to recoup their expenses on her death.

Bibliography: Mulè, Comunità ebraica di Siracusa, p. 69.

Syracuse, 4 November 1479

Publication: Mulè, Ebrei tra Siracusa e Malta, pp. 116f.

Salvo Bernichi of Malta in Syracuse owes Prospero Sala, a Jew, and others, including Gaudio de Brachono, another Jew, 11 ounces. He pays his debts by ceding a vineyard to Prospero. The property is redeemable within nine years.

Bibliography: Mulè, Comunità ebraica di Siracusa, p. 69.

Syracuse, 4 November 1479

Salvo Bernichi of Malta in Syracuse paid Prospero de Sala, a Jew, a debt with a vineyard. Since Salvo owes other creditors some 17 ounces, he obtains Prospero’s consent to letting him have the vineyard on métayage for as long as he wishes. This is contingent on Salvo’s willingness to cultivate the vineyard and to divide the crop with Prospero. If Salvo fails to abide by these terms, he loses the contract.