Campbell, William, British India in its relation to the decline of hindooism, and the progress of Christianity: containing remarks on the manners, customs, and literature of the people; on the effects which idolatry has produced; on the support which the British Government has afforded to their superstitions; on education, and the medium through which it should be given. By the Rev. William Campbell, Missionary to India, London 1839.

¹ This article contains a reference to a previous article on the topic (p. 256). The Friend of India (Monthly Series) in its December 1818 issue published an English translation of the Bengali pamphlet by “Rammohun Roy” on the opinions of the Hindu authoritative scriptures concerning the ‘Suttee’. This elicited a reply in defence of the practice, which was reviewed in the 1819 Friend of India (Monthly Series) in the November issue.
