About the Editorial Board

Jure Vidmar
Prof. Jure Vidmar is Chair of Public International Law at Maastricht University (The Netherlands). Prior to coming to Maastricht, he held teaching and research positions at the University of Oxford, Harvard Law School, University of Amsterdam and University of Nottingham. He is also affiliated with the Faculty of Law, University of Pretoria. Jure has published widely in several areas of international law. His books include Democratic Statehood in International Law: The Emergence of New States in Post-Cold War Practice, Oxford, Hart, 2013, Runner-up for the Birks Prize for Outstanding Legal Scholarship in 2014) and Hierarchy in International Law: The Place of Human Rights (Oxford, OUP, 2012, with Erika de Wet).

Ruth Kok
Dr. Ruth Kok is currently a Senior Legal Advisor at the Legal and Operational Affairs Department of the Ministry of Security and Justice of The Netherlands. Until 2014 she was a Member of the Legal Research Office (Section Criminal Law) of the Supreme Court of The Netherlands and served as a Substitute Judge at the district court. In 2007 she received her PhD from Amsterdam University for her doctoral thesis on Statutory Limitations in International Criminal Law. She obtained her Law degree from Leiden University (The Netherlands). Her main expertise is (international) criminal law.

Julian Arato
Dr. Julian Arato is Assistant Professor of Law at Brooklyn Law School, USA. He has written extensively on the law of treaties and treaty interpretation, the law of international organizations, and the law of foreign direct investment. Before joining the Brooklyn Law School faculty in 2015, he served as an Associate-in-Law at Columbia Law School. He previously worked as an associate in the international arbitration group at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer, where his practice focused on international investment disputes and international commercial arbitration. He holds a JSD from Columbia Law School, a JD/LLM from NYU School of Law, an MPhil form the University of Cambridge, and a BA from Columbia University.
Hege Elisabeth Kjos
Dr. Hege Elisabeth Kjos is Assistant Professor at the University of Amsterdam. Her courses and research focus on international law and international dispute settlement in general, and international investment law and arbitration in particular. She serves as Acting Director of the Amsterdam International Law Clinic and Deputy General Editor of Arbitration International (Kluwer). Hege Elisabeth was previously employed at the Legal Department of the World Bank in Washington D.C. She holds a Juris Doctor degree, a Cand. Mag. degree, and a Bachelor of Arts degree following studies in the United States, the Netherlands, France, and Norway. Her PhD degree was received from the University of Amsterdam.

Nikos Lavranos
Dr. Nikos Lavranos, PhD Maastricht University, is an expert in European law and public international law, and is currently Head of Legal Affairs of Global Investment Protection AG. Until August 2014 he was the Senior Trade Policy Advisor responsible for Bilateral Investment Treaties (BITs) and investment issues in the Dutch Foreign Ministry and previously the Ministry of Economic Affairs, The Hague. He has worked as Senior Researcher and Senior Lecturer at the University of Amsterdam. He is Secretary-General of the European Federation for Investment Law and Arbitration (EFILA), established in Brussels. He was Editor-in-Chief of the Hague Yearbook of International Law until 2014.

Daniel Rietiker
Dr. Daniel Rietiker is a senior lawyer at the European Court of Human Rights and Lecturer in Public International Law at the University of Lausanne (Switzerland). He is also a member of the Adjunct Faculty of Suffolk University Law School (Boston, USA). He holds a PhD in the field of arms control treaties and a diploma in international relations from the Graduate Institute, Geneva. He is a member of the International Law Association’s (ILA) international Committee on “Nuclear Weapons, Non-Proliferation and Contemporary International Law” and the chair of the association of Swiss Lawyers for Nuclear Disarmament (SLND). In 2014, he was a Visiting Fellow at Harvard Law School. He has published extensively in the fields of human rights and arms control law.