Aims and scope
The European Journal of Health Law focuses on the development of health law in Europe: national, comparative and international. The exchange of views between health lawyers in Europe is encouraged. The journal will publish information about activities of European and other international organizations in the field of health law. Discussions about ethical questions with legal implications will be welcome. National legislation, court decisions and other relevant national material with international implications will also be dealt with.

Submission of articles
The journal encourages the submission of manuscripts on floppy disks (for detailed instructions, see each first and last issue of a volume. Submitting your text on floppy disk should expedite publication. Manuscripts should conform to the following guidelines: they should be written in standard English and submitted in quadruplicate (the original plus three photocopies, each including all tables, figures and references). Four sets of original illustrations are required. The author should retain a complete copy of the manuscript. No fax transmittal is permitted except for urgent corrections.
Submit 4 copies of the manuscript to European Journal of Health Law, Annebeth Rosenboom, Publisher, P.O. Box 9000, 2300 PA Leiden, The Netherlands.
