Aims and scope
The aim of the European Journal of Migration and Law is to provide a source of information and a platform for discussion on migration law and policy in the European context (that is, within the European Union, the Council of Europe and the OSCE, to the extent that its activities are directly related to migration). The journal has a cross-disciplinary approach, including migration and social issues, as well as socio-legal and meta-juridical perspectives. It publishes original research and analysis of migration law and policy, as well as news and information regarding the various European institutions, summaries of activities and views on migration at the NGO level, and legislation and summaries of recent cases.
