THE SOCIETY & THE JOURNAL
The Society for Pentecostal Studies was founded in 1970 as an international organization of scholars working within the Pentecostal and Charismatic tradition. Since that time, the society has held an annual meeting in an attempt to communicate and stimulate research on the Pentecostal and Charismatic movements. In the Spring of 1979 the society published the inaugural issue of Pneuma: The Journal of the Society for Pentecostal Studies.

MANUSCRIPTS
Manuscripts submitted for consideration should be sent to the Pneuma Editor at Vanguard University, 55 Fair Drive, Costa Mesa, CA 92626-9621. Manuscripts should be typed double-spaced with footnotes on separate pages following the text. The author’s names should appear only on a separate title page and no place else on the manuscript. Submit manuscripts on 8.5” x 11” paper if possible. Include a copy of the manuscript on a 3.5” labeled disk. Indicate which word processor was used; a recent edition of MS Word is preferred. Normally, manuscripts exceeding thirty pages in length, including notes, will not be considered. Prospective authors should consult the svs website for guidance on style: www.sps-usa.org.

BOOKS FOR REVIEW
Books for review should be sent to the Pneuma Book Review Editor, c/o Regent University School of Divinity, 1000 Regent University Drive, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23464.

MEMBERSHIP IN THE SOCIETY
Membership in the society is open to scholars, students, and others who have interest in the study of Pentecostalism and the Charismatic Renewal. Full membership or Associate membership in the society is $50 per year. Student membership in the society is $25 per year. All members receive a subscription to the journal, an occasional Newsletter, a call for papers for the annual meeting, and a brochure outlining the program of the annual meeting.
