Societies Without Borders
Societies Without Borders

Aims & Scope

Societies Without Borders is a bi-annual journal, co-edited by Judith Blau and Alberto Moncada. One of the main ideas behind Societies Without Borders is bringing scholars from different continents closer together by showing their different approaches of the same research material, especially human rights and public goods. Many scholars from developing countries, paradoxically, have utopian ideas that they pursue, whereas progressive US scholars, for example, are more engaged in criticism. Societies Without Borders aims at bridging this gap; the journal also aims at breaking down the walls between the disciplines of Social Sciences, Human Rights (as formulated in the international standards of the UN-related organizations), Environmental Sciences, and the Humanities. Next to the work of scholars, Societies Without Borders will include articles by activists, teachers, and practitioners who understand the importance of collaborative efforts to affect and study change, for the dissemination of knowledge, and for case-based prototypes.

Editorial Board

Editors

Judith Blau
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill (jrblau@email.unc.edu)

Alberto Moncada
Sociologists without Borders and UNESCO, Valencia, Spain
(amoncada1@telefonica.net)

Book Review Editor

Keri Ivyall Smith
Sociology Department, Suffolk University,
8 Ashbuton Place, Boston, MA 02108, USA

Deputy Editors

Ruy Braga
University of São Paulo

Craig Calhoun
Social Science Research Council and
New York University

Gerard Delanty
University of Liverpool

Joseph Mensah
York University, Canada

Siddiquur Osmaji
University of Ulster

Isabella Paoletti
University of Bologna

Frances Fox Piven
Graduate Center, City University of New York

Student Associate Editors

Eunice Sahle
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Laura Toussaint
American University, Washington, DC

Louis Esparza
Stony Brook University

Advisory Editors

Gerald F. Lackey
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Catherine Zimmer
University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Instructions for Authors

The Instructions for Authors can be obtained from the editors or from Societies Without Borders’ web site at www.brill.nl/swb.

Societies Without Borders (print ISSN 1871-8868, online ISSN 1872-1915) is published 2 times a year by Brill, Plantijnstraat 2, 2321 JC Leiden, The Netherlands, tel +31 (0)71 5353500, fax +31 (0)71 5317532.